Reparation

Nick Watts

Description

Ex-soldier Tom Scobie had won the safe parliamentary constituency of Ridgeway, against all the odds, only to discover that his seat is anything but safe. At home shady figures seek to undermine him and things get even more dangerous abroad.

The prime minister sends him on a delicate mission and he quickly finds himself entangled in a world of multinational criminality.

Tom finds himself pitted against unseen enemies at home and elusive criminals across the Balkans. His adversaries always seem one step ahead. The puppet master is still at work trying to lure an old friend of Tom's into his network of influence.

The battle of wits becomes increasingly dangerous, Tom must untangle the web of corruption and intrigue, to save his old friend - and himself...

Biography

Nick Watts has worked in and around Westminster for 30 years. He has worked for an MP, been a policy adviser, a consultant, and has run an all-party parliamentary group. During this time he has seen the travails of the Major government, the arrival of New Labour, Brexit and the subsequent political convulsion.

He has worked with MP and Peers from all of the main political parties, and has seen them at work. He has also been involved in taking parliamentarians on overseas visits. As a result, he has a good understanding of the kind of people who become politicians, and the pressures they have to deal with.
